

BILL MASON
CUYAHOGA COUNTY PROSECUTOR

September 15, 2012

Dear Friend,

After 25 years of public service, including the last 14 years as your Cuyahoga County Prosecutor, I will be moving on to the next phase of my legal career. I will be joining the Cleveland office of Bricker & Eckler LLP. I want to personally thank you for your past support. I firmly believe that throughout those years, I supervised one of the finest Prosecutor's Offices in the country. That success was achieved through the hard work, dedication and professionalism of the Assistant Prosecuting Attorney's and support staff that worked for me.

Having a dedicated, hardworking staff is only part of the puzzle to being a successful public official. It also takes a dedicated campaign staff and the support of friends who believe in your vision. I am fortunate to say that I never lost an election. That is no accident. It was through the support and help from friends like you. I am forever grateful.

While I am stepping down as County Prosecutor, I will not be giving up my role as a community leader. I will continue to look for ways to improve our criminal justice system. I am passionate about increasing the use of green energy in our region. I will advocate for changes I believe are necessary to improve our county government. I will continue to help move this region forward and am certain I will see many of you assisting me in some of these endeavors.

Sincerely,

Bill Mason
Cuyahoga County Prosecutor
